If you think our animals are special, wait until you meet our volunteers! Every year, hundreds of volunteers give their time, energy, and enthusiasm to help us accomplish the important work of conserving wildlife and wild places. Volunteers can be found throughout the Zoo, behind the scenes and with our visitors. Whether you're looking for a day of meaningful service or a lifetime relationship, you can be an important part of our family! The vast majority of our adult volunteers work directly as educators, greeters, animal contact aides, and more. Selection and training for these positions takes place only in late winter and early spring, in order to get our new classes ready in time for the rush of seasonal visitors. Other positions have deadlines as well, based on school calendars, Zoo needs, or

---	--	--	---	--------

Is there another local organization prepared to immediately respond, within 48 hours, to meet the needs of 120 people burned out of their homes in seven separate fires across the community? Red Cross volunteers rushed to aid victims of four apartment building fires as well as another dozen people displaced after three single-family fires in Baltimore during a particularly hectic weekend. More typically, the Red Cross responds to two or three fires each day. We are equally prepared for large and small-scale disasters. We also teach Central Marylanders how to ready themselves for the unexpected.

Volo City	101 Dickman St Baltimore, MD 21230	Nayla Bautista Executive Director nayla@volocity.org	http://www.volocityfoundation.org/baltimore/volunteer/	Varies
Participation in youth sports is declining despite the well documented physical, social, emotional and educational benefits. Kids drop out when they feel they are not good enough, or they are not having fun. Parents may be forced to withdraw their kids due to concerns about the cost, the time commitment, or an oppressive emphasis on winning. These restrictions disproportionately affect inner city and low income families.
