Focus on Maryland Law is a required pass/fail two credit course for transfer students entering the law school who have completed all or the majority of their first year of legal studies at a different institution. Using Maryland case law, statutory and regulatory law, and rules, topics addressed will include researching the law, understanding the structure of Maryland courts and applicable rules, and writing about Maryland substantive law. Transfer students will work on (1) learning how to read and analyze legal concepts, (2) synthesizing complicated materials, (3) communicating effectively both orally and in writing, (4) developing the essential skills for the mastery of their law school courses at the law school, and (5) writing effective essay exams. This course is restricted to transfer students. Admission by permission only.
