The University System of Maryland (USM) invites nominations and applications for the position of president of the University of Baltimore (UB). The appointment will be effective at a mutually convenient date in 2014. Current President Robert Bogomolny retires on August 1, 2014.

The president of UB is the chief executive officer of the institution. She/he is responsible for all operations of the University, including overall leadership and management of the institution, its academic enterprise, fundraising, development of budget requests, and allocation of resources. The president reports directly to the USM chancellor and operates in accordance with policies and procedures established by the USM Board of Regents.

Located in Baltimore's historical Mount Vernon cultural district, UB offers a four-year undergraduate curriculum plus graduate and professional programs in business, law, public affairs, and applied arts and sciences, and is known for its interdisciplinary academic innovations. The first university in Maryland to receive The Carnegie Foundation's "community engaged" classification, UB takes seriously its role as an anchor institution in urban Baltimore by applying its intellectual, creative and financial capital to the opportunities and challenges of the surrounding community, city, state and region.

UB’s career-minded students span a diverse spectrum in terms of age, background and area of study across its colleges and schools. In fall 2013, UB enrolled 6,518 students, consisting of 54% undergraduates, 30% graduate students, and 16% law students. The student-faculty ratio is 15 to 1. The University serves a diverse and nontraditional population, with an average undergraduate age of 28 of whom 38.4% are African American, and an increasingly international enrollment. The student population is evenly divided between full-time and part-time students that attend day, evening and weekend classes. UB also offers online instruction, including fully-online M.B.A. and M.P.A. programs. UB Faculty are involved in the local community and active as leaders in their professional disciplines.

Founded in 1925 as a private institution offering business and legal education, UB became an upper-division/graduate state institution in 1975 and became part of the USM in 1988 with an expanded mission in applied liberal arts and professional education. UB resumed admitting first-year students in 2007. The University facilitated its quality programs with an operating budget of $141 million for FY 2013. Additional information about UB is accessible through its website: www.ubalt.edu and additional information about the USM is accessible through its website www.usmd.edu

Applications, nominations, inquiries, and expressions of interest should be forwarded in confidence to:

John K. Thornburgh, Robert M. Smith, Ph.D. and Howard T. Jessamy
Witt/Kieffer
UBaltPres@wittkieffer.com

Nominations and applications will be accepted until the position is filled. For fullest consideration, applicant materials should be received by March 28, 2014.

The University of Baltimore is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action/ADA Compliant Employer & Title IX Institution. For more information about the University of Baltimore, please visit www.ubalt.edu