What all Students Need to Know

During your time at the University of Baltimore, it is important that you review University policies and procedures on a regular basis. Whether on or off campus, students are required to follow University policies and official University directives at all times. This is especially important as we navigate the virtual environment. By doing so, you help us to maintain a healthy, safe, positive campus community.

Listed below are a few of the policies that outline key student responsibilities and expectations. Each of these polices can be found in full at www.ubalt.edu/studenthandbook.

At this time, the world continues to deal with ongoing issues related to COVID-19. The University of Baltimore continues to monitor response and update the University community about planning, safety, and protective measures. For the most updated information visit http://www.ubalt.edu/about-ub/pandemic-planning/index.cfm

Student Code of Conduct

All UB students are expected to conduct themselves with civility, make informed decisions, and treat others with respect and integrity. The Student Code of Conduct provides important information about your rights and responsibilities. Violations of the Student Code of Conduct should be reported as soon as possible to the Office of Student Support. Click here to make a report.

Academic Integrity

Academic integrity is an essential component of a quality academic experience. The Academic Integrity Policy defines University expectations for all work and collaborations associated with UB coursework. For instance, the submission of academic work done by another as your own work is a violation of the academic integrity policy. So, properly cite your work, and beware and disregard any solicitations/emails from individuals who claim they can do your work. Be sure to report such solicitations to the Office of Student Support or the Office of Technology Services.

All UB students are encouraged to complete the Plagiarism Tutorial before the completion of their first semester. This tutorial will help you familiarize yourself with basic citation requirements of good academic work. For more information, visit www.ubalt.edu/plagiarism.
Nondiscrimination and Sexual Misconduct

UB is committed to creating a safe and inclusive university environment. As such, the University has established procedures for reviewing concerns of discrimination and sexual misconduct. Incidents should be reported as soon as possible so that the matter can be addressed appropriately. Additionally, all UB students are required to complete the online sexual misconduct education program before the end of their first semester. This tutorial can be found on MyUB. For more information, visit www.ubalt.edu/sexualmisconduct.

Alcohol and Drugs

UB encourages all students to make healthy and safe choices.

The University of Baltimore is committed to being a safe and supportive community. As such, the university upholds all federal, state and local laws and its own policies and procedures for alcohol and other drugs. For a complete list of the federal, state, local and campus policies that govern the use of alcohol and drugs, please review Section IV 1.1 of The University of Baltimore Policy Guide. Students or employees found to be in violation of federal, state, local or campus policies may be subject to disciplinary actions that may include mandatory meetings with a university official, suspension, dismissal or other appropriate sanctions. Students in need of counseling or rehabilitative services are encouraged to contact the Office of Student Support or the Student Assistance Program (EAP).

The University supports positive decision-making and a healthy campus environment. Students can request access to the AlcoholEDU and Prescription Drug Abuse Prevention tutorials via the UB student portal. This information can be found under “Tutorials.” Click “Request Rx Abuse Tutorial” to complete and submit your request.
