

Interdisciplinary Studies Program Requirements (42 credits)

- IDIS 201 Introduction to Interdisciplinary Studies (3 credits)
In this required course, you'll develop a program plan that becomes the foundation for creating a unified and cohesive course of study throughout the Interdisciplinary Studies major. This program plan then becomes the platform for developing a final capstone learning portfolio as part of the coursework for IDIS 497 Interdisciplinary Studies Portfolio.
- Concentration Areas (36 credits)
You are encouraged to put together a thoughtful sequence of courses in each discipline that reflects the development and continuity of certain themes, methods or schools of thought.
 1. Choose three concentration areas from among all majors and minors offered at the University of Baltimore.
 2. Take four (minimum 12 credits) courses at the 300-level or above in each of your three chosen specialization areas. Make sure you take lower-level prerequisites for any of these courses in your first two years.
- IDIS 497 Interdisciplinary Studies Portfolio (3 credits)
In the program's capstone course, you will integrate your program plan, designed in IDIS 201 Introduction to Interdisciplinary Studies, with your concentration areas to complete a learning portfolio.
