Office of Financial Aid

School of Law 2026–2027 Cost of Attendance (COA)

The Cost of Attendance (COA), sometimes referred to as your financial aid budget, is an estimate of the average total cost to attend The University of Baltimore (UBalt) for an academic year. The tables below list estimated rates for the 2026-2027 academic year. These estimates are subject to change pending state legislation and approval by the University System of Maryland Board of Regents.

The Cost of Attendance includes both direct costs (such as tuition and fees) as well as indirect expenses related to attending school that will not appear on your university bill. Estimated student budgets for personal living expenses reflect modest and reasonable expense patterns of UBalt students. Housing status is determined based on information on the FAFSA; for dependent students, this is typically classified as living with a parent. Indirect expenses are based on a standard 15-week instructional period per semester and are informed by research. Conducted by the Office of Financial Aid, including average costs for books, supplies, and other living expenses. These estimates are subject to change.

The following Cost of Attendance estimates are based on the anticipated enrollment for your academic career. For more information on anticipated enrollment, please see the University of Baltimore's Census Date and Financial Aid Eligibility and the Financial Aid Offer Information webpages.
