

UNIVERSITY OF BALTIMORE

The University of Baltimore was founded in 1925 as a private institution that provided educational access and professional advancement to working adults seeking a flexible, part-time curriculum. We opened our doors in the heart of Baltimore as a night School of Law and College of Business Administration, and in 1928, we graduated our first class of 38 students. Since that time, we've grown our enrollment to a total of nearly 6,000 undergraduate and graduate students and expanded our academic footprint to include four schools of study: the Yale Gordon College of Arts and Sciences, the College of Public Affairs, the Merrick School of Business and the UB School of Law.

UB's initial focus on upper-division and graduate coursework gained the University early academic notoriety, which enabled us to reach several milestones, including opening a junior college in 1937 and achieving Middle States Commission of Higher Education accreditation in 1971. In 1975, UB became a public institution, offering upper-division undergraduate, master's-level and professional academic programs. In 1988, UB joined the University System of Maryland, and in 2007, returned to a four-year undergraduate education to meet the growing demands for accessible, high-quality public education. In 2014, Baltimore named UB an Anchor Institution as part of a coalition committed to enhancing the culture, commerce and development of the city and the region.

While UB's student population continues to evolve, our campus remains firmly planted in midtown Baltimore, where our educators, staff and leadership continue to focus on the University's central mission: student success, innovation and educational opportunities.

KURT L. SCHMOKE, UB'S EIGHTH PRESIDENT, JOINED THE UNIVERSITY IN 2014. THE FORMER BALTIMORE MAYOR BELIEVES STRONGLY IN THE SUCCESS OF BOTH BALTIMORE AND UB AND SUPPORTS THE IDEA THAT URBAN COMMUNITIES CAN THRIVE WHEN EVERYONE—INDIVIDUALS, GOVERNMENTS AND LOCAL ENTERPRISES—BECOMES MORE COMMITTED TO LIFELONG LEARNING.

THAT

IN THE HEART OF THE CITY

UB is centrally located in midtown Baltimore, the core of the city's creative district. Surrounding streets and neighborhoods, including North Charles Street and the Station North Arts and Entertainment District, are filled with theaters, museums, restaurants and other cultural attractions, and we're just minutes from treasures like the Inner Harbor and the National Aquarium.

Students have easy access to opportunities for research, internships and work with governments, nonprofits and innovative public- and private-sector businesses, including T. Rowe Price, Pandora and Under Armour.

Thanks to our neighborhood's Walk Score of 91, you don't need a car to get to class, the gym, the supermarket or the bank. We're close to major highways and to every kind of public transportation. Or just walk across the street to Penn Station and hop a train for a quick trip to Washington, D.C.; Philadelphia; New York; and other East Coast destinations.

UB

The UB campus consists of 11 buildings on 8 city blocks.

FACULTY WITH REAL-WORLD EXPERIENCE

Our faculty bring their professional, practical experience to the classroom, fueling students' energy and interest in learning and developing pioneering, creative solutions to real-world issues. They're leading professionals in their fields and have worked for a variety of organizations ranging from Fortune 500 companies to federal and state government agencies, multistate law firms and the entertainment industry.

Smaller class sizes mean that our educators can take the time to form close relationships with their students. As mentors, they deliver more personalized—often one-on-one—education and are committed to teaching practical skills that help students hit the ground running in their chosen careers.

A VIBRANT CAMPUS COMMUNITY

Student life at UB extends well beyond the classroom. All of our students can find something that interests them, whether it's joining one of our club sports teams, volunteering at Community Service Day or at the UB Campus Pantry, acting in a Spotlight UB play at the Wright Theater, spending a fun afternoon at the Rock the Block spring block party or just taking a fitness class.

Here, a dull moment is hard to come by. And all it takes is a quick look at social media for students to keep up to date on everything that's going on.

A STRONG AND SUPPORTIVE ALUMNI NETWORK

When you graduate, you join a new UB family that's nearly 50,000 strong, with more than 75 percent living in Maryland. Membership in the UB Alumni Association is automatic and free.

UB graduates work for thriving local companies and organizations as well as local branches of national and international organizations. Think Apple, Big Huge Games, the FBI, the Kennedy Krieger Institute, the Smithsonian and the Walters Art Museum. Fun fact? More UB alumni are partners in Baltimore's 25 largest accounting firms than are alumni from any other university.

Alumni continue to have a valuable resource in our Career and Professional Development Center, as it's available after graduation to help advance your career.

LEARNING THAT WORKS

Our students benefit from hands-on programs that deliver much more than facts. You get the tools you need to learn and define your goals. At the same time, you'll take an active role in your career development, studying both inside and outside the classroom and participating in ways that allow you to have real impact.

UB programs fit your lifestyle, whether that means day or evening classes on campus, online classes or a combination. Several programs are offered at the Universities at Shady Grove in Rockville, Maryland, where UB classes are taught by the same expert faculty who teach at the main campus in Baltimore. And our accelerated learning options allow qualified students to use some of their undergraduate work toward graduate and law degrees to fast-track their entry into the workforce.

“The benefit of being able to take classes in a hybrid manner—online and in person—is that life never gets in the way of my education. Having that level of flexibility enables me to take classes that fit my schedule, regardless of how busy life can get or how demanding my job may be.”

Troy Pritt, B.S. '15, current MBA student internships were listed on UBworks in fall 2016.

“UB's Early Entry Law Program provided a unique opportunity to get ahead of the game while still maintaining a comfortable lifestyle. The professors care about your success and equip you with the skills needed to lay your professional foundation.”

Brian Ingram, B.A. '15, J.D. '17

BALTIMORE: A TOP COLLEGE TOWN

Baltimore's combination of small-town charm and urban chic makes it a great place to go to college—and an equally great place to stay after graduation.

Our town offers so much when you need a break from studying, from the Ravens, the Orioles and the Blast to biking and walking trails in Druid Hill Park, countless historical sites like Fort McHenry and the Shot Tower and numerous farmers markets and outdoor festivals.

The long list of companies and organizations that call Baltimore home means you have access to countless internships and volunteer opportunities and a chance to give back to the town you'll call home for the next four years, if not longer.

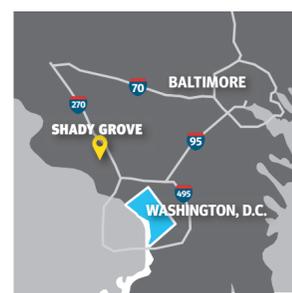

Baltimore continues to have a place on several "best of" lists, including the following:

- Best U.S. Cities to Attend College (American Institute of Economic Research)
- Great Cities for College Grads (Kiplinger)
- Best Cities to Find Work (CareerCast.com)
- Best Cities for Technology Jobs (Forbes).

Many of the 120,000 students at Baltimore's 13 colleges decide to stay and make a life here. According to 2010-14 census data, ours is one of several cities whose population of educated millennials has grown by more than half since 2000.

SHADY GROVE: ROCKVILLE, MARYLAND

You don't have to come to Baltimore for a UB degree. Selected master's and bachelor's programs are available at the Universities at Shady Grove in Rockville, Maryland, through weekend, online and fast-paced 10-week sessions, ensuring you can stay close to home to complete your degree quickly. The campus, convenient to Washington, D.C., and its suburbs, offers students full access to a gym and a library as well as to academic advising, career coaching, tutoring and disability support services.

The Universities at Shady Grove provides the best UB has to offer in a location that's ideally situated in Montgomery County. Classes are taught by the same expert faculty who teach at the main UB campus.

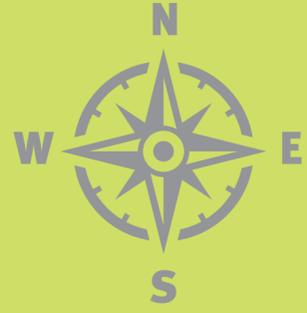

Greater Baltimore has the nation's fourth highest population percentage of students who earn advanced degrees.
