Policies and Procedures Related to Courses

Attendance During Add/Drop (Schedule Adjustment) Period

UBalt can drop students from a class roster who do not:

a) participate in the face-to-face or online class by the end of the add/drop date, or
b) have Office of the Registrar permission to be added to a class after the add/drop date.
   Students must notify the course instructor immediately upon obtaining permission and must participate in class as soon as possible.

Once a student is registered and the add/drop date has passed, UBalt does not drop for nonattendance, but there are consequences for students missing classes. Students are subject to the University and class attendance policies.

Attendance/Participation in Remote Classes taken Online in Real Time (i.e., synchronous classes)

Students should keep in mind that faculty must be able to determine if a student is truly participating in a class to comply with University and accreditation attendance policies. A student is considered absent if logged into a synchronous class but does not respond via audio, chat or other approved methods to a faculty prompt. Visual and/or audio presence may be required for examinations or other types of assessment (including required participation in discussion), and video presence may be required by faculty for every class meeting, except when students have made other arrangements with the faculty member due to exceptional circumstances. Students should be mindful that misrepresentation of attendance is academic integrity violation and, in the School of Law, an honor code violation.

Students may wish to position themselves with their back to a wall or use a virtual background in Zoom while remaining clearly in attendance and engaged in class. See Zoom Virtual Background system requirements for more information; Chromebooks and Chrome OS do not support virtual backgrounds or the blur feature. University of Baltimore backgrounds can be
Recording Statement
With the approval of the Office of Disability and Access Services, faculty may be required, or students may opt, to record classes for the purposes of accommodating a disability. Faculty may opt to record classes for students who cannot attend or so that students who wish to review may have access to the full class content. All class recordings, audio or video, are for the sole use of that specific class instruction and study and may not be used or reproduced by students for any other purpose. Similarly, students may not capture images or chat text from a class without permission from the instructor for use specific to that class instruction and study, and such images may not be used or reproduced by students for any other purpose. Violating these directions is a conduct violation. All class recordings prepared by faculty for instructional use are protected by a UBalt login process based on where they are posted, and they are configured not to be downloaded. If a class is being recorded, students may mute their microphone if they do not consent to be audio recorded, but this may mean they need to find additional ways to participate in class discussion.

Academic Integrity
The University of Baltimore (UBalt) is a community comprised of students, faculty, administrators, and staff who share a commitment to learning. Exceptional academic honesty is essential to the university’s mission of learning, scholarship, and integrity. We believe:

- Honesty is the foundation of personal integrity.
- Honesty promotes substantive learning.
- Honesty validates the recognition of scholarly achievement.
- Honesty demonstrates respect for the work of others and enables effective cooperation.

All members of our community share responsibility for actively fostering academic honesty, actively discouraging academic dishonesty, and engaging in ongoing discussion of activities that may violate the spirit of honesty.

The Academic Integrity Policy provides information regarding behaviors that violate the academic standards at UBalt. These behaviors include, but are not limited to, plagiarism, cheating, falsification, and facilitation. Violations of the policy will likely result in charges which can lead to a failing grade on an assignment, a failing grade in the course, or even suspension from UBalt. All UBalt students are responsible for understanding their obligations under this policy.

Students with questions about the appropriate use of materials or the manner in which work should be done should speak with their professor or seek guidance from other resources at the University website. Webcams and computers may be borrowed from the Office of Technology Services.
university such as the Robert L. Bogomolny Library and the Citation and Licensing Guide. Several resources are also posted online.

Plagiarism Tutorial
All undergraduate and graduate students are expected to take UB's Plagiarism Tutorial before the end of their first semester at UBalt; some faculty may require it of their students.

Turnitin
As a part of an institution-wide effort to ensure the originality of student work, UBalt licenses Turnitin, a commercial text-matching service that analyzes students’ submissions against its own archive of student papers, articles, and web sites to report on student originality and identify possible plagiarism. UBalt faculty members reserve the right to use this or other measures to evaluate student work for originality and for correct attribution.

Student Code of Conduct
Students are expected to maintain a high standard of conduct both within and outside the classroom. Since the university's role is to provide the best possible atmosphere for learning, growth, and development, individuals who violate its policies and expectations are subject to review and possible university sanctions. The Student Code of Conduct outlines the university's expectations of students, discusses relevant policies of which students should be aware and details the processes students will work through should there be allegations of a potential violation.

Students are required to maintain these standards both on and off campus; failure to be aware of these expectations is not accepted as an excuse for violations. The Office of Student Support is responsible for the oversight and facilitation of the adjudication of concerns regarding potential Code of Conduct violations.

Grade Challenges
Students have the right to a grade based on their actual course performance as compared to an articulated standard that is applied to all those taking a course. Each instructor must therefore be able to articulate a uniform, identifiable standard that is applied in calculating any part of a student's course grade. That standard must relate to the course syllabus, academic instruction, and the assignments and materials provided to the class. The university’s policies and procedures related to grade challenges detail the processes to follow for students who have a grade challenge.

Mid-Semester Progress Reporting for Undergraduates
Mid-Semester Progress Reports will be issued for all undergraduate students halfway through the semester. Students may earn a grade of S/Satisfactory – which means you are passing the class with a C or better; a grade of NS/Not Satisfactory – which means your grade is a C- or lower; or a grade of FA/Failure due to absences. Mid-Semester grades do not appear on student transcripts and are not calculated as part of a student’s Grade Point Average (GPA). Students who earn a grade of NS or FA should contact their professor and advisor to discuss ways to improve their performance.

Incomplete Grades and Requests

An Incomplete (I) grade may be granted to a student at the discretion of the instructor and the appropriate dean’s office when the student encounters unanticipated extenuating circumstances (for example, hospitalization) that temporarily prevent the student from completing required coursework. The student should petition for the Incomplete as soon as the unanticipated circumstances are recognized, the student and faculty member must agree upon the Incomplete before term grades are due.

Documentation is required to officially issue the Incomplete, including a contract signed by the instructor and the student detailing due dates for all remaining work to be completed. Incomplete coursework must be completed by specific deadlines: the university catalog outlines the timeline for an incomplete to convert to an F grade if work is not completed in a timely way.

Privacy Act

Public Law 93-380 (Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act of 1974, also known as the “The Buckley Amendment”) provides certain rights to students (and, in some cases, parents) concerning access to educational records. For more specific information on your privacy rights, visit the FERPA for Students website).

Religious and Faith-Based Observance Policy-Shady Grove

It is the policy of the University of Baltimore to provide reasonable academic accommodations for students to practice sincerely held faith-based or religious beliefs (UB, VII-5.2).

A student who wishes to request a Reasonable Accommodation must make the request to the faculty member for the course in which an accommodation is requested. All requests should be made, in writing, as soon as possible and whenever feasible at least three weeks in advance of the requested accommodation. Requests should indicate the sincerely held faith-based or religious beliefs that serve as the basis for the accommodation request and outline the specific accommodation(s) requested (including any requests relating to missed work).

Students with Pregnancy and Related Conditions and Sex Discrimination Policy

UBalt has policies and procedures related to Sex Discrimination and Pregnancy or Related Conditions, consistent with federal and state nondiscrimination laws. Title IX and University policy require that most faculty members, as Employees with Authority under the policy, report any information about conduct which may reasonably constitute Sex Discrimination or Prohibited Conduct. Title IX also requires that the University provide accommodations to students who are pregnant or experiencing related conditions. For more information, to obtain additional resources, or to initiate a complaint, please contact T9@ubalt.edu.

Title IX Sexual Harassment and Sexual Misconduct Policy

UB has clear policies and procedures related to Title IX and nondiscrimination policies. The university's Sexual Harassment and Sexual Misconduct policies are compliant with Federal laws prohibiting discrimination. Title IX requires that faculty, student employees, and staff members report any known, learned, or rumored incidents of sex discrimination, including sexual harassment, sexual misconduct, stalking on the basis of sex, dating/intimate partner violence, or sexual exploitation and/or related experiences or incidents.
